The main content area features a large blue banner image at the top, which appears to be a stylized or abstract representation of a landscape or architectural structure. Below the banner, the page is organized into a grid of text blocks. The text is rendered in a light blue color against a dark background, making it difficult to read. The layout includes several columns of text, likely representing news articles, announcements, or institutional information. The overall design is clean and professional, typical of a university website.
